EARLE ASHLEY WALCOTT,⁷ born in Magnolia, Ill., Nov. 19, 1859. He lived a few years in his native town, a few years in Chicago, and when about ten he was taken to Santa Barbara, Cal., by his parents. His health was delicate, and therefore he was irregular in attendance at school. His mother was his instructor. He was afterward a student at Santa Barbara College, a private school, and this school and the principal of the high school prepared him for the University of California, where he graduated in 1883, with the degree of Bachelor of Letters.

When about thirteen years old, he became interested in amateur journalism, and conducted the Santa Barbara Weekly Tribune three or four years, thereby learning most of the details of the trade of a country printer. In the University, he was one
